Don't forget about the Gibbes Museum

Calling all art lovers – if you haven't done so yet, be sure to see the gorgeous exhibit at the Gibbes of selections from Jonathan Green and Richard Weedman's collection, amassed over the last 40 years. The exhibit, "Building a Legacy", consists of 49 works of art – paintings, sculpture, works on paper. If you're familiar with Green's work, you'll get glimpses of the artistic inspiration and influences for his own work. Masks and social distancing are required, and ventilation is excellent. The exhibit is there until January 21.
