Mindfulness seminar with local Mindfulness Meditation Teacher, Kathleen Cassels.

Several of us had the pleasure of joining Kathleen on March 18 as she gave us the history of mindfulness, told us about the benefits, and explained the techniques involved. We then proceeded to exercise our mindfulness for about 15 minutes with Kathleen's guidance. Of course this practice does take practice to perfect but it was very informative and relaxing. We thank Kathleen for sharing this with us. If any of you are interested in pursuing mindfulness, Kathleen has a group that she leads on a regular basis.. We can put you in touch with her if you contact Susan at 843-224-7504 or susangarro@bellsouth.net.

HN2N to host Botanical Tour of Colonial Lake on April 22nd

(Our attendance is full, but please RSVP if you would like to be added to our waitlist)

susangarro@bellsouth.net or 843-224-7504

A horticulturist with the Charleston Parks Conservancy since 2010, Kellen has helped lead Park Angels and volunteer groups in the installation, maintenance, and all things Gardening in the Parks. Since 2016, he has managed the daily and seasonal maintenance of Colonial Lake Park. Kellen is a graduate of the University of Florida with a Bachelor of Science in Horticulture and Sustainable Agriculture. In 2009, he interned at Moore Farms in Lake City, SC, working in the botanical garden and 2-acre organic vegetable farm. He especially loves naturalistic gardens and the long growing season, but still with a tinge of seasonality, that we have in South Carolina.

Harleston Village Neighborhood Association News from the Board:

The Harleston Village Neighborhood Assn met last week for its regular monthly meeting and heard from residents about 80 Ashley Ave on the corner of Wentworth St. Those who spoke were somewhat divided on the issue, but the board decided not to support the application. The board will support a commercial use if the neighbors can support it. An application for an eight story apt building on the corner of Calhoun and Halsey was denied by the City.

Things to do (virtually) around town:

Goings on at the Gibbes:

Gibbes Film in Focus: Daughters of the Dust

April 22, 2021 @ 6:00 PM - 8:00 PM

Whether a classic noir or a cutting edge documentary, the Gibbes believes in the power of great filmmaking: to bring people together, to put audiences in touch with new ideas, and to celebrate the diversity of the human experience. Join us this summer as we launch this limited engagement series with a focus on representations of the Southern Gothic in American cinema.
